But every Friday night from September to December, when the Permian High School Panthers play football, this West Texas town becomes a place where dreams can come true. With frankness and compassion, H.G. Bissinger chronicles a season in the life of Odessa and shows how single-minded devotion to the team shapes the community and inspires--and sometimes shatters--the teenagers who wear the Panthers' uniforms.

~~Friday Night Lights: A Town, A Team, And A Dream ...~~

Friday Night Lights: A Town, a Team, and a Dream is a 1990 non-fiction book written by H. G. Bissinger. The book follows the story of the 1988 Permian High School Panthers football team from Odessa, Texas, as they made a run towards the Texas state championship. While originally intended to be a Hoosiers-type chronicle of high school sports holding together a small town, the book ended up being critical of life in the town of Odessa. It was later adapted for television and film.

The idea had been rattling in my head since I was thirteen years old, the idea of high school sports keeping a town together, keeping it alive. So I went in search of the Friday night lights, to find a town where they brightly blazed that lay beyond the East Coast and the grip of the big cities, a place that people had to pull out an atlas to find and had seen better times, a real America.

Every Friday night from August to November the stands at Kannapolis Memorial Stadium were filled to capacity with rabid Wonder fans anxiously awaiting to see their adopted sons take the field of battle to bring pride and victory home to the Wonder faithful. This was a glorious era of big bands, and pride in one's alma mater.

~~Friday Nights in K-Town~~

On Friday nights at 7 pm is when the religion of the south gets underway. In order to get a seat, you probably should have shown up about an hour early. In order to get a parking spot, maybe an hour and a half. Everything in town is shut down because of the football games; this includes restaurants, stores, everything.
