Summary and Sparknotes Chapter 8 - Alaska Summary. After Jon Krakauer's article on McCandless appeared in Outside magazine, the author received many letters suggesting that the young man had been mentally ill. Other mail simply questioned his judgment: "Entering the wilderness purposefully ill-prepared, and surviving a near-death experience does not make you a better human, it makes you damn lucky," wrote one reader.

Explanation of the reception of his 1993 Outdoor magazine article about McCandless's death that he began in Chapter Six. He quotes a number of letters the magazine received criticizing McCandless, particularly those from experienced campers and Alaska residents, who see the young man's trip as at best too romantic and at worst dangerously foolhardy.

approach, Yellowfang attempts to get up, but her injured leg slows her down and the ThunderClan patrol emerges. Yellowfang faces them defiantly as Bluestar asks Firepaw what is going on and why they are both recently fed. Firepaw starts to reply that she was weak and hungry, but Bluestar scolds him for eating, saying he wasn't weak or hungry.

Chapter 8: Alaska The first quote was written by

Theodore Roszak in "In Search Of The Miraculous".

It described about creative people who are highly motivated but can sometimes become obsessed with one thing which results in

"remarkable insights".

However, they may lose the ability to communicate their ideals with others.
