My Teaching Jacques Lacan - slashon.appbase.io

Lacan's My Teaching is composed of three addresses given in the late sixties, just after the publication in France of his major work, the Ecrits. As a man rumoured to be suspicious of publication the spoken address was his preferred method of delivery, and indeed the Ecrits themselves are largely polished versions of previously published papers running alongside, and sometimes drawing from, topics raised in his yearly seminar.

Jacques Lacan was a French psychoanalyst, 1901 - 1981. Trained as a psychiatrist, he abandoned the profession in favour of psychoanalysis in the early thirties. After publishing his paper on the Mirror Stage in 1949, for which he is probably best known to the general public, in the early fifties Lacan embarked on a project he called the 'Return to Freud'.

The text consists of three lectures that Lacan gave to various audiences in Europe in 67 and 68, right on the heels of the publication of Ecrits. Since his audiences are not analysts, these lectures are more readable than virtually anything else published under Lacan's name. Perhaps, this is a good book to pick up before delving into the seminars.
